KS3 school project promotes cultural capital, giving students the opportunity to develop the essential knowledge needed to prepare for future success. This is achieved by allowing the students to experience a range of real world skills and projects. Activities have included gardening, landscaping, decorating, construction and maintenance. The aim of these activities is to encourage resilience, independence and cooperation through undertaking work around the school. The work also helps the students develop their fine and gross motor skills and gain a better understanding of practical tasks that will help them in life after Sunnydown with the potential to encourage discussion of practical careers. Projects can change depending on weather and current projects needed around the school grounds. Ideas for school improvement come from the school council and students directly, allowing this voice to enhance a sense of ownership, pride and responsibility over projects. (Maslow's Hierarchy)
