Dear Parents and Carers

Next week Sunnydown School will be marking Blue Monday and Mental Health Awareness Week, focusing on wellbeing, resilience and helping our boys understand that it is okay not to feel okay all of the time.

Winter can be a difficult period for many young people. Shorter days, tiredness and changes in routine can all impact mood, motivation and behaviour. For boys in particular, feelings of stress or sadness are often shown through frustration, withdrawal or anger rather than words.

Throughout the week pupils will take part in:

- Daily tutor check ins focusing on emotions and coping strategies
- Assemblies on recognising stress and asking for help early
- Activities on healthy routines, sleep, movement and screen balance
- Wellbeing sessions reinforcing that strength is shown by speaking up, not bottling things up

Safeguarding reminder

If you notice changes in mood, behaviour, sleep or appetite, or if your son seems more withdrawn than usual, please contact the school. Our pastoral and safeguarding teams are here to support both pupils and families.

Online Safety

Please see the attached online safety flier 'What Parents & Educators Need to Know about Digital Devices & Wellbeing.'
